Property Description

Homes with non-standard designs, placed in natural surroundings, and holding an attractive price tag are very hard to find...so you are very lucky to stumble across this brand-new offer in Ojochal! Although set in nature and surrounded by rainforests, this two-bedroom house is easily accessible from the Highway - without the need for a 4X4! Ojochal's Calle Papagayo and surrounding streets are almost 100% inhabited by expats. The popularity of this area is reflected in the number of expat homes built on the popular streets of Tucan and Quetzal, and the quality and variety of nearby restaurants, shops and other businesses that cater to this community. This property is located on a nearly 1-acre plot and sits at the beginning of a small community surrounded by a lush jungle. The rivers flowing through the development create an oasis of peace and add to the tropical atmosphere of Costa Rica with their constant hum.
