Property Description

Set within the private, gated community of Trópicos Verdes in Chontales de Osa, Lot 10 presents a compelling opportunity to build in one of Costa Rica's most naturally rich regions. Surrounded by lush vegetation and framed by expansive mountain views, this homesite offers a peaceful setting designed for those who value privacy, nature, and long-term potential. The lot is part of a thoughtfully planned community where infrastructure is already in place—water and electricity are available at the property line, allowing for a more efficient building process. Beyond the immediate surroundings, the location offers excellent balance. Within a short drive, you'll find the beaches of the Costa Ballena region, known for their natural beauty, whale watching, and relaxed coastal lifestyle. At the same time, the nearby town of Ojochal provides convenient access to restaurants, services, and everyday essentials.
