Property Description

Caribbean Jungle Estates is a private residential community located in the South Caribbean of Costa Rica, only 9 minutes from Puerto Viejo and its pristine Caribbean beaches. Surrounded by lush tropical jungle, this development offers a peaceful natural setting while maintaining close access to restaurants, shops, and essential services. The community features a variety of lot sizes, with prices starting at $70 per square meter, depending on each lot's location within the project. Public electricity is already installed, providing added convenience and supporting a smooth construction process for future homeowners or investors. In addition, buyers have the option to work with a highly recommendable local construction company experienced in building quality homes in the South Caribbean region. This allows clients to move forward confidently, whether they envision a private residence, vacation home, or income-generating rental property.
