Property Description

Located in Tambor near Cajón in Pérez Zeledón, this beautiful valley view finca offers 9,443 m² of land with breathtaking panoramic views over the surrounding mountains and valleys. The property enjoys spectacular sunsets and a peaceful natural setting, making it an ideal location for those seeking privacy, nature, and space to create their dream home in Costa Rica. The land offers excellent development potential with at least three possible building sites. An internal road to the upper building area has already been installed, allowing easy access throughout the property and creating flexibility for building multiple homes, guesthouses, or a family compound. Electricity, water, and fiber-optic internet are available in the area, making it easy to combine the tranquility of countryside living with modern infrastructure. The terrain is largely usable and offers wonderful possibilities for gardens, fruit trees, or a small permaculture project.
