Property Description

Laguna de Tamarindo is a rare 58-hectare development opportunity strategically located in Tamarindo area, one of Costa Rica's fastest-growing and most sought-after coastal destinations. While currently classified as agricultural land, the property's size, location, and water availability make it highly suitable for large-scale development. This is an ideal opportunity for developers, hospitality groups, and investors seeking to capitalize on the region's strong tourism growth and increasing demand for residential and resort communities. The property is positioned just minutes from Playa Avellanas and Hacienda Pinilla, two of the most desirable areas in Guanacaste, known for luxury developments, world-class surf, and international appeal. With limited large parcels remaining in the Tamarindo area, Laguna de Tamarindo offers a unique chance to develop a landmark project in a high-demand market.
