Property Description

Boutique Jungle River Resort with Pool, Restaurant & Cabinas in Ojochal The river gives this property its soul —unhurried, natural, and deeply connected to the land around it. There is a particular kind of quiet that only a river produces — unhurried, consistent, and deeply connected to the land around it. At this newly built jungle retreat in Ojochal, that quiet is built into the foundation of the property. The river is not simply a backdrop. It is the experience. Set within one of Costa Rica's most sought-after communities on the Southern Pacific coast, Jungle River Resort offers the rare combination of natural beauty, commercial usability, and newly built infrastructure. The property operates on a human scale — intimate enough to deliver a genuinely personal guest experience, yet substantial enough to support a serious hospitality, lifestyle, or investment vision. With approximately 694 m² of total built area, the property was designed on a generous scale, blending interior living, guest accommodations, hospitality space, and expansive outdoor entertainment areas.
