Property Description

Playa Azul is located in the district of Tárcoles, within the province of Puntarenas, on the central Pacific coast of Costa Rica, it is approximately one hour from San José, the country's capital, and is easily accessible via highway Costanera Sur (Route 34), is known for its natural beauty and peaceful surroundings. It is a beach with dark sand and warm Pacific waters, it is less crowded than other more famous beaches, which makes it ideal for those looking for a calmer and more relaxed atmosphere. The beach is surrounded by lush tropical vegetation, including mangroves and secondary forests, which are home to rich biodiversity. Playa Azul and its surroundings are areas of ecological interest, with local efforts for the conservation of the environment and biodiversity. Playa Azul, in Tárcoles, is an ideal destination for those seeking an authentic Costa Rican experience, combining the tranquility of a less crowded beach with the natural and cultural wealth of the central Pacific region.
