Property Description

Custom Home built in harmony with nature in the lush tropical rainforest along the south Pacific sector of Costa Rica Just north of quiet surf and fishing village of Dominical. Home is accessed by a long private drive that is fully landscaped with ornamentals and exotic palms leading up to the homesite nestled in the rainforest with total privacy. The land is gently sloping, and very rich fertile soil for planting plenty of food supply. The view is straight out to the pacific overlooking the mangroves of the Old and New Hatillo rivers. The breeze is constant off the sea during the day, and comes down steady and cool from the mountains in the evenings. The home is a custom build by local craftsman, and raised above the ground for best ventilation and to maintain the view. The design is well thought out to take advantage of the breezes, the views, and plenty of open space and breathes well, and quite comfortable without air conditioning.
