Property Description

So here is the deal on this house: Buy the most amazing private wildlife sanctuary in the southern zone and you'll get two charming, updated, fully furnished homes included for free. Well, not exactly, but that's how it will feel! We live just down the road from this house and I have never listed a home that attracts as much wildlife as our neighbors' does. Agoutis by the dozen, coati mundis, deer, wild pigs, monkeys, sloths, curassows, toucans, ocelot.... Why? Because it is a peaceful, thoughtfully landscaped, park like property and the whole concept was to be as welcoming and appealing to the natural world as possible. How did they do that? There are dozens of pineapple plants (for the animals), a grove of banana trees, a small cluster of irresistible African oil palms, mango trees, and all kinds of other plants that birds and animals love. Beyond the animal friendly plantings, there are citrus trees, elang elang trees (think sweet perfume in early mornings), and too many more to list.
