Property Description

This Hidden Gem is located in a quiet residential neighborhood in Manuel Antonio where the homes almost never come on the market. From the shared parking area, the house is reached down a private staircase through the lush gardens. At the bottom of the stairs is the guest house on your right, and the main house and pool on your left. Both houses have a large covered terrace for outdoor dining or enjoying the surrounding jungle. The crystal blue pool has a nice large deck area with loungers looking out a forest of bamboo. The main house is newly renovated, adding a modern topical feel to the traditional architecture. The kitchen and living area on the main floor lead out to the terrace through sliding doors, providing the much desired indoor/outdoor living experience. Upstairs are 2 identical master bedrooms, each with ample ensuite bathroom. The spectacular headboards are made from native wood.
